

The Frameless System

This system provides all the advantages of the Blokup system without an aluminum frame and is perfect for internal walls and sidelights. The telescopic anchor clips permit well-constructed frameless installations without sacrificing strength or stability. The Blokup frameless system can be easily adapted to any opening in the home or in the office with fantastic results.

Going frameless means that you can create almost anything that your heart desires, your imagination is the only limit to what you can do.

Blokup offers you an amazing range of glass block sizes and colours that can be selected and mixed if you wish to extend the range of options that are on offer. If you have something in mind for your home or office, why not give us a ring and we can help you to achieve it.
